Our alumni network

When you finish your exams this summer, we don't want that to be the last time you're in touch with St Gregory the Great School.

We are working with Future First to help us keep in touch with our former students.

Who is Future First?

Future First is a charity which helps schools like ours to stay in contact with their leavers from day one.

The Future First team will contact you on behalf of St Gregory the Great School and it'll only be a few times a year.

Keep an eye out for a text or email towards the end of the year, when we'll be in touch to ask what you're up to.

Why keep in touch?

- f Stay connected;
- f Improve your CV:
 - f Get a reference;
 - f Volunteer;
- f Inspire students in your old seats...

Role Models

We believe that former students are in the best position to offer advice and guidance to current students.

You could be a fantastic role model for future students by sharing your experiences, for example:

- f Talking to year 9s about choosing GCSE options;
- f Talking to year 11s about exams, revision and choosing your post-16 route;
- f Letting students know what the first year out after leaving St Gregory's is really like.

And Much More...

- f You'll get to hear the latest news from us
- f We can still offer you our support even after you leave.
- f Perhaps you could talk to prospective students at an open evening?
- f You could help fundraise towards new books for the library or hiring a coach for a trip.

Who else is signed up?

Some examples of former students already signed up are:

- Raymond Pelekamayo – (2011) CEO of Landan Consultants
- Helen Dawson (2005) – Dance Teacher
- James Welsh (2009) – Aircraft Technician

Where will you be in 10 years?
