

Psychology

A Level

AQA

What will you learn?

If you have ever wondered why people do the things they do or how we influence each other, then psychology is the subject for you. Psychology is the study of mind and behaviour. AQA AS (7181) & A Level (7182) Psychology explores how and why we behave in different contexts. Psychology is a very diverse subject, so the course also aims to give you an overview of the range of approaches taken in current research.

Highlights

You could take this course with other AS/A levels such as a science or one of the humanities to prepare for higher education in Psychology or a more general course. You could go into a job related to psychology such as a Counsellor, Nurse or Psychologist. You could specialise in an area of Psychology such as education or mental health. Psychology also complements many other areas such as business and sport.

Assessment

Exams

Course requirements

A minimum of six grade 4-9 GCSE passes, including a grade 6 in Maths, Science, and English.